

Bedtime Stories For The Little Ones

UNCLE WIGGILY AND WOODY CHUCK.

By HOWARD GARR.

"HAVE you anything special to do today?" asked Nurse Jane Puffy Wuzzy, the musty old housekeeper of Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Nothing very special," he answered. "I am just going out in the woods or fields to look for an adventure, and he brushed a few specks of dust from his tail silk hat.

"Then, perhaps you wouldn't mind going over to Mrs. Chuck's for me," asked Nurse Jane. "I borrowed a cup of sugar from our grumbling neighbor the other day, and I want to pay it back."

"I'll take the sugar to Mrs. Chuck's for you," offered Uncle Wiggily. "And perhaps, if her two boys, Woody and Waddy, haven't gone to school I may walk a little way with them, and see if they know their lessons."

"Dear me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "Are you never going to grow up? How you do like children!"

"Yes, I guess I do," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "And I hope they like me. But you know it will soon be time for Woody and Waddy to take their long winter sleep, and they won't come out again until Christmas day, or February 1. So if I want to have any adventures with them I'll have to do it soon."

"Hop along!" laughed Nurse Jane, as she gave Uncle Wiggily the cup of sugar. He carried it to the burrow or underground house, where Mrs. Chuck, the grumbling lady lived.

"Woody and Waddy have just gone to school," said Mrs. Chuck. "But if you hurry perhaps you may catch up to them."

"I'll hurry," said Uncle Wiggily, as he handed Mrs. Chuck the cup of sugar. Nurse Jane had sent.

The rabbit gentleman hopped on over the fields and through the forest, and pretty soon, he saw on the path ahead of him, a little animal boy, about as large as a puppy dog.

"Hello, there!" called Uncle Wiggily.

"Hello!" came back the answer, and the bunny saw Woody Chuck stop and wait.

"Where's your brother, Waddy?" asked the bunny.

"Oh, he can go ahead," answered Woody. "He's going to help the lady mouse teacher clean off the blackboard, so he wanted to be early. Are you going to walk to school with me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I am," answered the rabbit gentleman, and then he asked Woody about the little woodchuck boy's lessons.

"And when Uncle Wiggily found Woody didn't know his spelling very well, Mr. Longears helped the animal boy."

Woody and Uncle Wiggily were having a nice time walking through the woods when all of a sudden, out from behind a big tree, popped the bad old Skuddlemagoon. The Skuddlemagoon opened his mouth wide in a big grin and said:

"Well, I guess I've caught you this time, Uncle Wiggily! I've got you now!"

"Yes, I suppose you have," sadly said the bunny. "But won't you please let me go?"

"No, you won't!" growled the Skuddlemagoon. "I am going to bite the nose off your ears!"

"And you come to bite some off mine, too?" asked Woody, the groundhog, or woodchuck boy.

"Ho! Ho! I guess not," answered the Skuddlemagoon. "You are so small and down so far in your fur that it's hard to get at them to bite some. But Uncle Wiggily has such nice, long ears that it's a real pleasure to nip at them."

"Oh, dear!" sighed the bunny. "If you don't want me I might as well run along to school," spoke Woody.

Uncle Wiggily didn't say anything, but he felt rather sorry that Woody was going to run away and leave him to face the Skuddlemagoon all alone.

"I wouldn't run away and leave Woody if the Skuddlemagoon caught him," thought Uncle Wiggily. "But I suppose that is the way of the world."

The Skuddlemagoon began to sharpen his teeth on his tongue as Woody skipped out of sight and the bad chap was just sliding up to nip some sense off Uncle Wiggily's ears, when all of a sudden the rabbit gentleman seemed to sink down into a hole in the ground, and there he was—out of sight.

"Why—why—where did he go?" asked the Skuddlemagoon. "All I see is a hole in the ground. Are you down there?" he called to Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, he's here, and I'm here with him," answered Woody Chuck. "We fooled you all right, you bad Skuddlemagoon! Did you think I'd run away and leave my Uncle Wiggily? I guess so! I slipped around behind him, dug a tunnel in the ground and made it come out right where Uncle Wiggily was sitting. Now you can't get him!"

And the Skuddlemagoon couldn't. Woody, brave groundhog that he was, had quickly burrowed under the ground and made a hole behind Uncle Wiggily, lined with soft leaves, for the bunny to drop into. And when Mr. Longears fell into it he got away from the Skuddlemagoon. Then Woody and the bunny hurried off, crawling out of the burrow a long way from where the Skuddlemagoon was sitting. And thus everything came out all right. And if the back steps don't try to jump over the clothes line to go to the movies when the scary lady is scrubbing them, I'll tell you next of Uncle Wiggily and Waddy Chuck.—Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

:: HOROSCOPE ::

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1919.

ASTROLOGERS read this as a most unfortunate day, for Mercury and Saturn are both in strongly adverse aspect.

The evil sway of the planets is held to encourage discontent and to make susceptible to the suggestion that they are subject to injustice.

Strikes and riots supposed to become more serious while this configuration prevails.

Newspapers are likely to chronicle news that is most depressing and sensational during this rule of the stars. Saturn is in a place that is exceedingly menacing, and the seers again prophesy that the signs presage the passing of all that is connected with the old order of things.

The predictions concerning the new era include the promise that leaders of a younger generation soon will be recognized.

Women have the forecast of a period of remarkable development in which they bring about many reforms that make for the uplifting of the race.

In this connection it is declared that there will be a redemption of a class that has always been outside the social scale, and that this will come through economic readjustment.

Labor continues subject to astral conditions that stir men and women to deeds of sacrifice and also to foolish violence.

Again the king of Italy is warned to safeguard his person as there are stormy clouds portending in his horoscope.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year in which many problems must be solved. They should keep rather quiet and not risk health or fortunes.

Children born on this day are imaginative and a bit visionary. These subjects of Scorpio should be carefully trained in practical matters.—Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1919.

MARS dominates this day with sinister power, according to astrology. In the evening Uranus is in benefic aspect.

During this sway the mind is usually open to suggestions that are depressing and disturbing, so that it encourages quarrels and discontent.

There is a sign read as pointing to movements of troops and even loss of life. This may be overdone, but the seers forecast civil troubles that arouse anxiety.

Food will come much to the fore again as a national problem. It is prophesied. Bread riots, milk riots and other troubles seem to be indicated by the stars.

The last month of the year will give promise of peace and plenty for many, but it will also bring others to desperate measures, astrologers warn.

Again the resignation of a cabinet member is prophesied by the seers. Governmental changes will mark the new year.

Women again will concentrate attention on the simpler household arts, although they are assuming large public responsibilities. The seers assert, and cooling will become as popular as knitting was during the war.

The trend of population will be toward smaller cities and towns, astrologers prognosticate, and there will be a new interest in land ownership.

A great national memorial will be bestowed on the country by the Jews, or some organization that has a world-wide fame.

Agitation concerning the value of time and the meaning of its waste will be brought about by some condition that demands increase in efficiency in every line of effort.

Actors and actresses have the best sort of government of the stars. They will gain a new independence, but it will come slowly. There is a sign interpreted to mean that Washington will be the seat of a strange experiment with the drama.

Persons whose birth date it is have the anxiety of a very successful year. They should not lend money or jeopardize their fortunes in any way.

Tested 250,000 Miles Three-Point Cantilever Springs Greatest Improvement Since Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been put through the most thorough and severe test possible.

250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Cantilever Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Springbase give the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to Marshall Divan Spring Upholstery.

El Paso-May Have Gigantic Used Car Auction Sale Soon

It has been suggested that all the auto and truck dealers of El Paso combine and offer all the used cars and trucks in the city at auction. The idea is to secure a large lot in which the auction may be held and proportion the cars and trucks that all may get a fair break, all the cars and trucks being sold at auction. As yet no dealer has offered to superintend the job which would doubtless be work for a full grown man.

The city of Zacatecas, Mexico, is built over a rich vein of silver.

Census Bureau Divides Texas Into Three Zones For The 1920 Census

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Texas will be divided into three zones for the industrial part of the census, the census bureau has announced. These zones will be known as the Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston-Galveston and the San Antonio zones. An industrial census will be taken in each county in Texas, but the census in the industrial zones will be more comprehensive. Nearly all of southwest Texas, including El Paso, will be included in the San Antonio zone.
